By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—According to reliable information reaching this city, extraordinary political events in La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, prevented the inauguration, scheduled for yesterday, of President-Elect Jose Gobina Villanueva.

It is reported that President-Bauista Saavedro, who was to have assumed power yesterday, remains in power with the backing of the army.

Change in Ordinance Likely.

As result of the strike threat a determination by the master plumbers eventually set to this will be made to amend the ordinance so as not to require the licensing of union journeymen or others not affiliated with the union.

This would permit the influx of plumbers who would otherwise come to St. Louis.

The examining board created by the ordinance is composed of a master plumber, a union journeyman and an ex-officio chairman, all present happens to be with Commission Starkloff. The board is required to meet at least once a month to examine applicants for household goods. Those who want quick action always advertise in the Post-Dispatch.

Ford Announces Many Changes in His Cars

Lower Chassis, All-Steel Roomier Body, Wider Fenders, Higher Radiator, Closed Cars in Colors.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 26.—The most pronounced changes in the Ford motor car since the Ford Motor Co. began production of the model T, the standard Ford chassis, was announced by the company today. There is no change in price.

Both open and closed cars have an all-steel body on a lowered chassis, with changed body style in nearly all models. Color has replaced the black finish on closed cars, fenders are lower and larger and brakes have been redesigned. The coupe and Tudor models are painted in deep channel green and the Fordor in Windsor maroon.

Touring cars now have four doors and roadsters two. Cord tires are now standard on all Fords. The motor remains unchanged.

The three transmission bands have been improved, the new type being wider and more durable. In place of the old steel drum housing the emergency brake, the regulation textile bands have been installed. Curtains opening with doors have been placed on the touring cars and runabouts.

Longer lines, with a redesigned cowl and a higher radiator, nickel plated, are especially noticeable. The gasoline tank is under the cowl in most models, seats and steering wheel are lower and the cars are roomier.

BULK OF CHICAGO NEWS PROFITS GO TO BENEVOLENCE

Will of Victor Lawson Leaves Three-Fourths of Estate in Trust for Humanitarian Purposes.

TRUST COMPANY TO HANDLE PROPERTY

Present Management, However, to Continue to Direct Paper—Brother Gets Fourth of Estate.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The Chicago Daily News, chief asset of the estate devised in of Victor F. Lawson's will, hereafter will assume a position unique in journalism. The newspaper, along with many other items of the publisher's estate, was placed under the administration of the Illinois Merchants' Trust Company.

"Three-quarters of the profits of that great living agency of public intelligence, the Daily News, will go under this management to benevolent purposes," John J. Mitchell, president of the trust company said. "Here, indeed, is a unique example of a newspaper not only serving good causes, but continuing to carry on its owner's humanitarian work through the distribution of its earnings."

"This arrangement is eloquent in its testimony to the love of humanity which inspired all the actions of the great editor and good man whom Chicago mourns.

The Illinois Merchants' Trust Co. will cooperate most heartily."

The other one-fourth of the income from the Daily News will go, with other bequests, to Lawson's widow, Mrs. Anita Berg.

Present Management in Charge.

Mitchell announced, that the present management would be continued in charge of the newspaper.

The will left virtually three-quarters of the Lawson fortune to benevolent and philanthropic organizations. No definite value was placed on the estate by the will, which includes specific bequests totaling $4,775,000. More than $2,505,000 has been outright or in trust to benevolences.

Three-quarters of the residuary estate goes in equal parts to three philanthropic agencies, the Chicago Congregational Missionary and Extension Society, which in addition receives a specific bequest of $1,300,000; the Chicago Theological Seminary, which also received a specific bequest of $100,000, and the Young Men's Christian Association of Chicago, which received in addition $100,000.

One of the largest bequests to an individual was $200,000 to Melville E. Stone, Lawson's former partner in the New York later general manager and now counselor of the Associated Press.

Provision was made for a $40,000 trust fund for Miss Wilhelmina Werner, Lawson's former secretary, who has died since the will was drawn, and a similar trust for Harriett M. Dewey, the white-haired cashier of the News, who has been with the paper for 49 years and is more than 80 years old. For many years Miss Dewey's word has been law in the business department of the newspaper.

Trust funds were established also for several other employees. At the death of the trust fund beneficiaries, the trust is to be paid to persons named by the will of the beneficiaries, but in the case of several of the News employees, it was provided that the trust shall revert to the residuary estate.

Out of the bequests to the Chicago Congregational and Missionary Society, Lawson provided that the proceeds of $30,000 trust bequeathed to the New England Congregational Church, of which he was a member.

Requests to Employees.

Among the bequests to News employees are the following: Howell L. Rogers, assistant to Lawson, $50,000; Charles H. Dennis, managing editor, $50,000; James Landau, editor of the Daily News Almanac, $50,000; Walter A. Strong, business manager, $50,000; Edward Price Bell, foreign correspondent, $25,000; Andrew B. Adair, superintendent of the mechanical department, $25,000; John B. Woodward, advertising manager, $25,000; Irving Stone, superintendent of the pressroom, $10,000; Henry Justin Smith, former news editor and now assistant to the president of the University of Chicago, $10,000.

The instrument confers virtually unlimited power on the "executer and the true company at its discretion may dispose of the estate or any part of it by sale, using the money derived for reinvestment."

Walter Fisher's Tribute to Victor Lawson.

Victor Lawson was "an idealist whose feet were firmly planted on the ground." Walter L. Fisher, former Secretary of the Interior, declared last night in an address broadcast from Station WLB in radio memorial services for the publisher.

"A great master of publicity, he scrupulously avoided personal publicity for himself." Fisher said, "was very reticent, undoubtably accounts for much of the present

ONTARIO BEER FAILS TO WIN CONGRESSMEN

Head of U. S. Investigators Says He Found System "Most Unsatisfactory."

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 26.—The special committee of the United States Congress, appointed to inquire into the workings of the eighteenth amendment to the United States Constitution, were guests at a dinner last night of the Ontario Prohibition Union. The Americans, who are headed by Representative Grant M. Hudson, of Michigan, at present are touring Ontario to obtain information on the sale of 4.4 beer in the provinces and the workings of the temperance law in general.

"We first asked whether 4.4 beer had satisfied those who wanted a stronger alcoholic beverage," said Hudson at the dinner, "and fully 95 per cent replied that it had not. We were told that after a trial on it, the populace turned away from it as being no better but more costly than the old 2.5 beer."

The next question was whether the sale of 4.4 beer had decreased the sale of bootleg liquor. The unusual reply was that it had not increased, rather than decreased it. Also we inquired whether the beer had weaned the drinker of hard liquor to the milder beverage, and we learned that it had not. In fact, virtually every person we interviewed declared the whole system unsatisfactory."

With regard to prohibition in the United States, Hudson asserted that sentiment in its favor was becoming steadily stronger. The next Congress would show the largest majority on record in support of the eighteenth amendment and there was not the slightest chance for the present law to be repealed or amended, he said.

Bulgarian Girls Must Not Bob.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

SOFIA, Aug. 3.—Bulgaria is a country in which the regulation of the affairs of the people is distinctly in evidence, especially insofar as the feminine sex is concerned. For instance, a recent decree of the state educational authorities forbids school girls to shingle or bob their hair. Another decree provides that skirts must not be too short. In one or two of the provincial towns the rules are even more strict and silken stockings and canes are regarded as quite unnecessary articles in a woman's attire. In general, Bulgarian women dress soberly, but neatly, and prefer good, lasting textures to cheap and frumpy goods.

DE HART AN ASSISTANT IN NEW DRY REGIME

Duties Will Be to Hear Cases Bearing on Liquor Permit Revocations.

By the Associated Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 26.—L. F. de Hart, former director of prohibition enforcement in Missouri, has been named assistant to Judge J. H. Loveland, who Monday was appointed chief assistant to W. D. Moss, the new dry administrator of the Illinois-Kansas-Missouri division. The announcement of De Hart's appointment was made last night by Moss.

De Hart's official duties, Moss said, would be hearing cases bearing on revocation of liquor permits.

Under the new system of prohibition-enforcement personnel, one man will be appointed in charge of enforcement and inspection in each judicial district. The Missouri-Kansas-Illinois division contains four of these judicial districts, two in Missouri and one each in Kansas and Illinois.

W. Frank Cunningham, an agent here, is to go to St. Louis, but what position he will occupy there has not been decided, Moss stated.

Ass. Huston Endorsed for Dry Administrator of This District.

Ass. Huston, for more than 15 years the State legislative and political writer for the Globe-Democrat, has been recommended by Senator Williams for appointment as Federal Prohibition Administrator of the Fourteenth (St. Louis) District. His name also has been endorsed by Republican National Committee members Clements and Staats.

The recommendation has been made to Assistant Treasury Secretary Anderson, who makes the appointments, and who recently designated General Supervisor Moss as Acting Administrator until a permanent selection is made. Huston indicated his acceptance of an appointment would depend on the salary. When he first consented to presentation of his name, he understood the salary was $7500 a year. Later he learned it was $6000, which was not attractive.

The administrator's office will be opened Sept. 1 in the Title Guaranty Building.

gardless of union affiliations in order to meet an ever-increasing demand for plumbers, to which the restricted union apprenticeship system presents an obstacle.

Apprentice Rules Opposed.

Eugene Blake, secretary of the Master Plumbers Association, said today that only one apprentice is allowed by the union in each plumbing shop and that this restriction has created a serious shortage of skilled men. There are fewer than 300 unionized plumbing shops in St. Louis and as an apprentice must serve four years to become a journeyman, the output of finished plumbers in St. Louis under this system is restricted to one man to a shop every four years.

Blake declined to say that the master plumbers, of whom nearly 200 are affiliated with his organization, have unanimously agreed to make the basic for more apprentices, whether there is a strike or not, and that, under no circumstances, will they receive from their position to ignore the demands for an increased wage.

Various athletic contests and entertainments helped pass the hours. Luncheon served by Rotarians and their wives was a high point of the day. Ham, eggs, bread, cakes, ice cream, bananas, milk, lollipops, root beer and other delights of childhood were served in large quantities.

Each child was given a present, dolls, rubber balls and handkerchiefs being provided.

To Stand on Contract.

"Our organizations will not be moved from the solemn contract for 20 years," said Blake. "Building costs are extremely high, due largely to high wages and under-production in a great many instances. CALL ON COOLIDGE

By the Associated Press.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 26.—The prospective sum and operations in the anthracite fields on Sept. 1 was discussed today by President Coolidge with James J. Storrow, fuel administrator for New England, during the war Storrow described his visit as personal and emphasized that the coal situation did not come up for particular discussion during the conference on business affairs generally.

The President also received to day William Coolidge of Boston who is a bituminous operator from the West Virginia fields. He was not at White Court at the same time as Storrow and insisted that his call was purely personal. Mr. Coolidge has made it known that the Government will take every step possible to insure consumers an adequate coal supply in case of an emergency. He is anxious, however, that the anthracite operators and miners settle their differences and is determined not to interfere in their negotiations.

ADmits Theft of Silver Cups from School for Blind

Paul A. Anderson, Former Employee, Arrested in Hotel—Some Loot Recovered.

Silver trophy cups, easy to steal but hard to sell, led to the arrest of Paul A. Anderson, former handy man about the Missouri School for the Blind, who admitted that he committed the burglary at the school reported Aug. 13. He admitted also that he robbed the Century Boat Club, where also he was familiar with the place through having worked about the premises.

Seven of the trophy cups, some of them inscribed with the names of individuals and classes; seven smaller silver cups, quantities of silverware, a watch, cigarettes and postage stamps were found by detectives who visited Anderson's room at the Pershing Hotel, 189 Market street. Because the articles were in an adjoining room, the occupants of that room, a chauffeur and his wife, were arrested for investigation.

Anderson said he was formerly a soldier, but quarreled with his lieutenant, Knocked the officer down, was court-martialed, and served six months in Leavenworth Prison.

CHINESE DISTRICT TO HALT TONG WAR

Note Proposes Germany Negotiate for Pact Based on Membership in League.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Aug. 25.—The French note to Berlin on the security question suggests that Germany open negotiations for a security pact based on membership in the League of Nations and execution of the treaty of Versailles.

While convinced an agreement is possible, the French emphasize that the treaty of Versailles must not be tampered with.

The entrance of Germany into the League of Nations is the only solid basis for mutual guarantees and an European accord," the note says.

The note insists upon obligatory arbitration in all cases "to make further recourse to arms impossible."

It rejects the German proposal for a limited arbitration which might be applied to the western German frontiers.

ASKS THAT $50,000 BOND BE FIXED HERE FOR REMUS

United States District Attorney Curry today requested Federal Judge Davis to set the bond for George Remus, the "millionaire bootlegger" of Chicago and Cincinnati, at $50,000 for his appearance here Sept. 21, to stand trial for complicity in the looting of the Jack Daniel warehouse here in September, 1923, when 883 barrels of whisky were removed.

Curry stated that Remus will be released from the Atlantic Federal Penitentiary, where he is serving a life sentence, in time for conspiring to violate the national prohibition act on Sept. 1, and he is going to send a fugitive warrant to be served upon him. Judge Davis indicated that he would comply with Curry's request.

the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A conference looking to a renewal of the armistice between the United Chinese tongs was held yesterday at police headquarters. High officials of the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs participated.

The first definite information in cause of friction between the two tongs which sent trial of vice half way across the United States was received from members of the conference.

Charles W. Gould, attorney for the Hip Sing, said the break came when that organization attempted to establish lodges in Boston and New York. On Leong strongholds, one in each city, while a former Hip Sing branch of Chinatown in St. Louis was wounded.

Forty-five Chinese were

KING BACK FROM TURKEY

State Senator Still Opposed to the Lausanne Treaty.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Senator William H. King of Utah, a leading opponent to the ratification of the Lausanne treaty by the United States, returning today after visiting Turkey and other countries of the Near East, said he was as firmly opposed as ever to the treaty.

Stating that the pace would be before the Senate for consideration at the next session of Congress, Senator King said: "I visited Turkey, went to Constantinople and into the interior of the country, conferred with Turkish officials and met all classes of people, and without going into details, and without having fully canvassed the notes which I took, I can say the reasons which heretofore have impelled me to oppose the Lausanne treaty still exist."

INTOXICATION CONVICTIONS INCREASE

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Convictions of intoxication in England and Wales for the last year show a slight increase over the preceding 12 months, but the percentage of 18 convictions per 10,000 of population still represents less than half the prewar aggregate. The increase in the number of convictions is attributed to the growing consumption of methylated spirits.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Dismissal of the indictment against one Max Greenberg, who was involved in the $3,000,000 Rondout (N.Y.) mail train robbery by the alleged bogus confession of Willie Newton, one of the men now serving a sentence in connection with the robbery, was authorized by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday. The dismissal was asked for by J. E. Byrne, Assistant District Attorney.

Max Greenberg of St. Louis, who was convicted of an East Side freight robbery in 1917 and later pardoned by President Wilson, and who was friendly with the Egan gang then, but later had a falling out with the gangsters, was in New York at the time of the robbery. His telephone to his attorney, Charles Karch, of East St. Louis, saying that he was not the man intended as a defendant in the robbery and that some one else must have been connected with it. He said he had reported to Department of Justice agents in New York, who had no difficulty in establishing his innocence.

COMMITTEE TRYING TO AVERT COAL STRIKE

Operators to Meet With Wilkes-Barre Men—Miners Still Oppose Arbitration.

By the Associated Press.
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 26.—Anthracite operators will meet the citizens' "no-strike" committee here this afternoon to hear its appeal that negotiations broken off with the mine workers Aug. 4 be resumed to prevent a suspension in the hard-coal fields Sept. 1.

The miners, in giving their reply at a similar conference in Haledon yesterday, said they would start afresh with the mine owners on one condition. But the operators found prohibitive. The miners stipulated that the operators must recede from their position of insisting that no demands would be considered that increased production costs.

W. W. Ingalls, chairman of the operators' scale committee, announced last night departure from this fixed policy would be impossible because higher production cost inevitably meant higher coal to the public.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, criticised the operators for insisting upon arbitration.

Lewis, in a statement of what he called the miners' demands this year for a 10-per-cent wage increase for contract miners and $1 a day additional for all day workers, ridiculed the poverty he said the mine owners pleaded whenever the time came to consider wages.

Profits of Companies.

As part of the profits the companies were making Lewis pointed to the $8,000,000 improvement in income which he attributed to the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. and Cox Brothers Co. in 1924. By way of comparison he recalled $5,831,000 he said the company had earned in 1921, a return, he said, amounting to 137 per cent on the corporate investment.

Annual earnings of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., whose president, Samuel D. Warner, was an opponent of any increase in wages that would boost producer cost, showed the company was in good position to favor its men financially, according to Lewis. Earnings in 1924 were $2,500,000 or at a rate of 16.2 per cent on the investment, he declared.

Lewis also cited the Glen Alden Coal Co. Its earning rate of 100 per cent in 1923, which Wall Street estimated the company would equal in 1925, Mr. Lewis felt, was inconsistent with the economy plea of W. W. Ingalls, its president, and the operators' whip in the scale negotiations.

Lewis charged that the operators wanted a suspension in the hard-coal industry this year for "substantial financial reasons."

"They wish to dispose of their accumulated stock of their steam sizes at enhanced prices," he said. "They are selling off that coal. Why should they negotiate when they are making more money by not negotiating?"

Know How They Arbitrate.

"We have arbitrated with the anthracite operators and know how they arbitrate," said Lewis, "and they know that the hard coal miners are not going to arbitrate this year of 1925."

He frowned upon public intervention at this juncture and declared it would try to force something upon the miners the public would not accept itself.

"If we must arbitrate the price of our labor, the condition of our employment," Lewis said, "and the safety of our body, then by the same token we should carry that principle to a point where every thing else of importance to the mine worker and affecting the mine worker should be arbitrated."

ROBBERS AT COAL OFFICE

LEAVE EMPTY-HANDED

Patrol Wagon Loaded With Police-men Arrives Soon After Hold-Up Men Depart.

Two robbers who held up four employees of a branch office of the Union Fuel and Oil Company at 4448 St. Louis avenue at 8:30 a.m. today left empty-handed when employees informed them that they did not know the combination of the office safe containing yesterday's receipts, the amount of which officials of the company refused to divulge.

It was just as well for the robbers, however, that they departed in a hurry, as a patrol wagon loaded with policemen arrived a few minutes after their departure in response to a telephone message by Capt. John Bell, former balloon pilot, who, from his filling station across the street, saw the robbers enter and force the employees to "put 'em up."

Before escaping through a rear door of the office, the robbers, most of whom were Americans and wore masks, struck Clarence J. Busse, a bookkeeper on the head with the butt of his revolver because of his failure to open the safe. The branch has been robbed twice this year, two men taking a $1000 payroll on Jan. 9, and $600 on Feb. 14. The same men are believed to have committed both of these robberies.

Ride Now Enjoying Radio.

By Radio to the Post-Dispatch and the Post-Dispatch News Service, 1925, the BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The good citizens of Dusseldorf have enjoyed to the full their first radio concert. The first act of the liberated townsmen was to rush to the shops and purchase receiving apparatus which the French garrison, that departed yesterday, had not allowed them to own. With the help of a corps of electricians many radio sets were installed.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 26.—An American was killed and another man, whose nationality was not determined, had his lower jaw shot away by a band of Indians who ambushed three cowboys southwest of Palomas, Chihuahua, Mexico, Saturday. The report reached here through J. T. Lorion, chief of the fiscal guards at Palomas, south of Columbus, N. M., who came to Juarez today to confer with officials about conducting warfare against the Indian band. The American killed, Lorion said, was an employee of the Benton ranch, south of Columbus.

The league wants the Mayor's answer to the charges and his views on the merit system for city employees.

H. W. Marsh, secretary of the man who made the inquiry, has announced that the letter was sent to Mayor Miller Aug. 3 and another request for reply was made Aug. 12, that up to last Monday no response had been received. The Mayor has been away on vacation since the time of Hertenstein's resignation, which was submitted on July 1.

The league's letter said:

"For the information of the National Civil Service Reform League, will you not make a statement to us in answer to Mr. Hertenstein's allegations, and will you tell us, in as much detail as possible, your own views as to necessity and desirability of a simple and rigid requirement for enforcement of the merit system as established in the sections of the St. Louis Charter providing for the Efficiency Board?"

This league, the secretary wrote, was vitally interested in the movement that brought about inclusion of the Efficiency Board provisions in the 1913 Charter. The letter called attention to Hertenstein's charges that the Mayor used one, or two or three dots beside the names of employees "suggested" to the board, to indicate the degree of interest in the applicants.

Reference was made to Hertenstein's other charges concerning an effort by the Mayor to solidify city workers into a political machine concerning removal of certain officials.

"Some of the allegations," he said to the Mayor, "it is alleged that you have actually violated the Charter of the city."

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—All signs of amity in New York's Tammany campaign disappeared yesterday when Mayor Hylan made a letter denouncing Tammany Hall, linking Gov. Mayor Bryan's letter was addressed to United States Senator Mandel. It thanked him for his assistance to the Hylan cause and announced the Mayor's intention "to speak freely and spade a spade."

Defeating his charges that Tammany Hall seeks a return to a open town, the Mayor added that the underworld grafters are getting their toll from the underworld gamblers and dense of high-ups will be busy collecting their share of the toll from Tammany Hall.

The Mayor said he would speak of the public's alleged connection with the activities of certain dealers accused of selling impure

Every Agreement With For-

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Every year's tax returns bring added confirmation of the theory that American business is expanded in those post-war years in a manner that will ultimately have a big influence on the tax rates that need be imposed.

The first outstanding fact is that the volume of transactions in American business is multiplying and that the natural and inevitable growth of the business of the United States can be counted on in the next five years to bring in such a large revenue that a low rate will not be a risk.

The second and perhaps more important fact is that the experts are able to calculate returns from specific tax rates with accuracy. This means that revising a tax measure no longer is attended with such uncertainty as it was four years ago. The Government can tell in advance and has profited it.

Gradually Lower Scale.

What the Treasury would like to do is to pass a gradually decreasing scale of tax rates so that over a period of at least two or three years the business man could figure out exactly what his taxes would be. There was a time when this course was regarded as risky because the possibility of a business depression influencing the amount of revenue was taken into consideration. Also the drive for economy had not reached the point where it could be counted on from year to year.

Feeling now, therefore, that Government expenses will not be appreciably increased, the tax experts think the low tax rates which are to be recommended for the next law that is passed will bring in much larger revenue than existing rates. This is because American business is building up to such an extent that the practicability of tax rates will tend to increase rather than diminish.

But there's flexibility which the Treasury will have in the future and which it has not had in the past. Indirectly it is the result of the debt settlements being made with foreign countries. Up till now the Treasury has paid out upward of $250,000,000 as provided by law for sinking fund on the public debt. In some instances the annual payments on the public debt have reached $750,000,000. While it is possible from every viewpoint to reduce the public debts as much as possible, there is a requirement which makes the Government take more out of its surplus for this purpose than is necessary.

Flexibility Permitted.

Thus with foreign debt settlements to be counted upon as applying on the public debt, especially existing Government bonds, the Treasury can afford to permit itself a greater area of flexibility in reducing tax rates. Conceivably, if business in any one year did not come up to expectations, the payments on the public debt can be held to the statutory requirements without damage to the credit of the American Government. It is not considered probable, therefore, that a deficit would accrue, even with the 10 or 12 per cent surtax and with the 5 per cent normal tax which are being proposed.

The size of the American public debt will be gradually diminished as time goes on.

Instead of carrying the entire charge as a fixed expense it will be possible for the Treasury to borrow money for the refunding operations at a rate not higher in any event than the Europeans are paying American. The settlement of the foreign debt therefore is a vital part of the taxation policy of the American Government and the relationship between the two things will become more and more apparent in the next year within which it is expected that both France and Italy will have come to terms with the United States. Every settlement reached with foreign Governments removes a factor of uncertainty with respect to interest charges and sums needed for sinking funds.

Outlook Bright.

In conclusion, the outlook for a better tax rate may be said to be bright indeed. Lower surtaxes are coming, as well as lower rates all along the line. This will tend to encourage business transactions in taxable enterprises. The total volume of American business would grow anyhow every year, but it is expected to grow more with a lower tax rate.

And whatever sums come in from foreign governments will increase the opportunity of the Federal Government to reduce expenses for interest now being carried and will permit the Treasury to ask for relatively smaller sums by taxation to take care of sinking fund on the public debt.

U. Speaks at Opening of Conference to Close To-

Cream cheese sold as "nerve tonic" at more than 100 times its market value, face powders which caused chronic lead poisoning, and "reducing" medicines which made nervous wrecks were discussed by Dr. John Auer, professor of pharmacology in St. Louis University School of Medicine, at the opening today of the health institute for Catholic school teachers at the St. Louis Cathedral auditorium.

"Ireland should be made the country club of the world," said Archbishop Glennon, telling today of his impressions of the Irish Free State, where he spent some time on his return from a Holy Year visit to Rome. The Archbishop arrived in St. Louis last evening.

"Ireland has running streams, green valleys, purple mountains and level sward," he continued. "A great country for golf, I should think. Ireland has all kinds of eatables and drinkables, and large quantities of folio paper, to make out the accounts on—accounts, however, which are in the main reasonable. All Ireland needs to make it the world's greatest resort is a few more modern hotels, and these are being supplied."

"I would recommend Ireland to all nervous, fretful, overworked, ambitious persons, and to those who have lost their souls and want to get them back."

But the Archbishop found that Ireland has lost, or is losing, one of its historic distinctions. Irish oratory has faded, he declared.

Facts Wanted, Not Oratory

"The days of Burke, Grattan and the old school of Irish orators have passed," he commented. "They tell you that they want the facts, and are willing to let the oratory go. It is hard to fancy that oratory should die in Ireland, yet it would be most regrettable if it seems to be true."

This he said, has affected the fortunes of some public personages of the "stormy petrel" type, who combine high expressions of patriotism with selfish aims. In their attitude toward such would-be leaders, he said, the Irish people have shown themselves disillusioned, and rather cynical.

Politically, he considers the present Irish government secure. This, he explained, is because the Free State Government alone has a program of collecting taxes, meeting obligations, building up industries and maintaining law. He discussed Irish conditions with Timothy Healy, Governor-General, and with President Cosgrave of the Dail, or parliament.

The two industrial developments that interested him were the harnessing of the River Shannon for power, and for electric power to supply the lack of practically available coal, and the establishment of large sugar beet growing areas. Belgian engineers are working on the latter plan, which is based on the adaptability of Ireland's soil for growing root crops rather than wheat or corn.

His Impressions of Pope.

Archbishop Glennon's recent tour was the occasion of his first visit to the present Pope, Plus XI.

"He is most affable and cultured," the Archbishop commented. "His career, before his elevation, brought him into contact with books and people, hence his knowledge of literature and language. At the audience to the lady from St. Louis, as the Holy Father had understood that some were of German extraction, he spoke to them in German. While he understands English well, he does not speak it fluently."

Among medicines which might be beneficial, rightly used, but which are sold at ridiculous prices in patented preparations, he mentioned, besides the cream cheese, cod liver oil, beef extract, and a preparation of thymol and borax to overcome a social handicap which "even your closest friends won't tell you."

He spoke of eye drops of milk sugar and digestive pills which contained nothing but chalk and charcoal.

"Some hair dyes are drastically irritating to the scalp," he said.

"Some women will dilate their eyes with preparations containing belladonna, a powerful drug which may have far-reaching effects.

They have only a legitimate desire to please, but their methods of gratifying it sometimes are injurious.

Licensure Work Neglected.

"The great work of the Missouri State Board of Health in regard to the health of the people is well known. The work connected with epidemiology, trachoma, and vital statistics was heavy and instant, and occupied the major interests of the secretary and his subordinates. As a result, the procedures of the board were almost incidental. Licensure matters were largely looked after by a clerk who had many other coincident duties."

The same neglect of the work of licensure has occurred in other states, Dr. Waite says, and has resulted in the establishment of separate boards of licensure. He says that, while licensure is a health problem, and possibly the most important of health problems, yet if a State board makes it secondary to other matters, it would be better to place it in the hands of a separate board.

These considerations, Dr. Waite said, resulted in placing the licensure work in Dr. Hopkins' office.

"He has much improved the procedures," the report says, "but he has had insufficient space, inadequate clerical assistance, and from time to time has been called upon by the secretary of the board to perform other duties, to an extent that continuity has been lost and much delay caused."

Some Acts of Enloe Criticized.

While Dr. Waite finds reasons why the secretary of the board cannot give the proper attention to licensure, he also comments unfavorably on instances where Dr. Enloe, and that he sometimes used a private entrance from the outer corridor instead of passing through the reception room of the Board of Health as go most visitors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—A telegram was received by Gov. Baker today from Dr. Emmett P. North, president of the State Board of Health, and president of the State Medical Association, urging that the Governor investigate immediately the charges made against Dr. Cortez F. Enloe in the report of Dr. F. C. Waite, as to Dr. Enloe's official conduct as secretary of the board.

Dr. North signed the telegram, not as head of the Board of Health, but as president of the Medical Association. The telegram, which was brief, urged that the Governor take the action requested as a public service.

Dilatory Practice Stopped.

"Nearly all these late comers," it is declared, "were graduates of schools well known to be inadequate in equipment, facilities and procedure. There should have been at once a suspicion aroused that there was something the matter with these candidates besides their being dilatory. Happily, this practice has now been stopped, and in the June, 1925, examinations, for the first time in several years, there were no candidates admitted on waivers."

Dr. Waite's report says that, in addition to the cases now pending against physicians alleged to lack qualifications, "there should be an investigation of a considerable number of cases extending back for a period of 10 years, in which the records seem suspicious, especially those licensed by special examination."

Special Investigator Advised.

"In view of what has been learned in the hearings already completed," the report says, "it is evident that the procedures of the secretary's office, in failure to fully investigate applications, permitted entrance to the examinations of many unqualified applicants. Many of these failed to pass the examinations, and their cases are closed, but others passed and were licensed, and that teachers and stationary engineers have long had annual or periodical renewal of licenses."

Proposals for annual registration have been opposed in the past, the investigator says, because physicians have misunderstood them, or have thought that they placed some indignity on the medical profession. He points out that even dentists effectively prevent the former.

This Problem Insoluble?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
THE DEATH of a Mr. Bfuns, who was run down by an automobile a few days ago while leaving the curb to board a trolley car, is just one more victim added to the thousand and thousands occurring partly through careless driving by motorists, but primarily through the crude and unscientific practice of the midstreet loading and unloading of trolley-car passengers.

To illustrate this clearly, take a prominent street intersection, such as Delmar at Kingshighway. The trolley car paralleled and followed by a long string of automobiles approaches Kingshighway. The traffic officer stationed there is waving his arms vigorously for east and west bound traffic to move on quickly. As the autoist abreast of the car attempts to proceed to follow the traffic officer's urging, the trolley comes to a stop, with the result that its patrons being discharged from it and the prospective patrons attempting to reach the trolley must come direct into the line of the westbound traffic that is following against Fulton throughout the county is running high. That phase of it, to be sure, is a local issue, but it is something the business men of Fulton should think about. So far from serving its selfish interest by this injunction Fulton may do itself a serious disservice by antagonizing the county.

In order that there may be no doubt of the Governor's knowledge of Dr. Enloe's character and fitness to be a member of the State Board of Health we will whisper in his ear, through the Post-Dispatch, the conclusions of Dr. Waite with regard to the conduct of Dr. Enloe while secretary of the Board of Health.

Dr. Waite found that applicants were admitted to examination who had not filed their applications 30 days in advance, as required by law, and that some were admitted who did not file their applications until after examination.

He found that six of 12 men admitted to examination in June, 1924, without compliance with the rules, were from "a single notorious Chicago school." He found that these irregular and unqualified applicants were admitted by a clerk in the secretary's (Dr. Enloe's) office, who stated that it was done by direction of the secretary.

He found that matters needing correction in Missouri have almost entirely arisen from the improper operation of the secretary's office, in the responsibility of which no other member of the board shared. They did not participate in and had no share in the irregular work of Secretary Enloe.

He found that Dr. Enloe, the secretary, paid no attention to the inspection of medical colleges, nor to complaints filed against physicians charging them with misrepresenting their educational qualifications and failing to comply with legal requirements.

This is a mere summary of Dr. Waite's conclusions, but the sum of it is that Dr. Enloe, as secretary of the board, was wholly responsible for the irregularities and improprieties by which many physicians, illegally admitted to the practice of medicine and unqualified to practice, were licensed to prey upon the people of Missouri.

If the trolleys hope to qualify as vehicles suitable for safe and efficient transportation of passengers on surface streets, and avoid being the principal factor in causing traffic blockades, they must devise some other method of reception and discharge of passengers than the present midstreet practice.

Prohibition and the Constitution.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A CARTOON. "Under the Lid," that appeared in your paper, brought forth comment from one of your readers and as prohibitionists frequently do, he claims that you slander the Constitution and that is a grave error to be laid at anyone's door.

Dr. Waite cited many important improvements which have been accomplished chiefly through the efforts of the president, Dr. North, and the present secretary, Dr. Stewart, whose demands for the resignation of Dr. Enloe Gov. Baker contemptuously ignored and refused.

Space does not permit the Post-Dispatch to recite the large body of criticism of Dr. Enloe's record and of recommendations for correction, but all of them are of the utmost importance to the maintenance of the necessary medical professional standards in Missouri and the protection of the health of the people from incompetent quacks.

We say further that if Gov. Baker does not read this report and act in accordance with it; if because of personal and political friendship he retains Dr. Enloe on the State Board of Health, his unfitness for the governorship is as manifest as Dr. Enloe's unfitness for any office in his gift—a Patagonian would want to know why there is so much crime.

The Russian Communist party has resolved on better treatment of the white-collar worker. Now it begins to look like a real revolution.

HELEN WILLS A CHAMPION.

Helen Wills gave the most impressive exhibition of her starry career in defeating Kathleen McKane England in the title match for the national women tennis championship. The young California girl proved herself a champion, not only in technique, but in temperament. And her sterling victory is especially gratifying in view of the reverse she suffered a short time ago at the hands of Miss Ryan and the rumors that her game was deteriorating and her supremacy in jeopardy.

The one superb event towards which the feminine tennis world now moves is the match between Miss Wills and Suzanne Lenglen. When Miss Wills was vanquished recently by Miss Ryan, who has several times had to bow to the French girl, some of the critics were inclined to cite Miss Lenglen's superiority on the authority of the records. That citation is specious. Championships are not thus awarded. The question of superiority as between Miss Wills and Miss Lenglen will be determined on the courts.

The great Suzanne has had a long reign. She has been spectacular in triumph. Eventually she must relinquish her throne. Should that happen when she meets Miss Wills next year, let us hope she will blot the memory of a regrettable, tearful defeat by losing gracefully—by losing like a champion.

What Would Compulsory Votes Be Worth?
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I HAVE been deeply impressed by the article by Jeff McKay suggesting a compulsory voting law. I think that it would be a valuable contribution to our wonderful and massive system of laws as they now exist. But in addition to what he proposes there ought also be a law passed compelling the nonparticipating voters to pay a court cost on intelligence or some correspondence school so that they would be enabled to decipher the unintelligible palaver that our sweet statesmen offer in the election period. Thus they would be enabled to form some sort of an opinion and express it. It is about time that the active participating minority would rise up and take drastic steps to compel the nonvoting majority to perform their duties as voters, whatever their duties may be. I am for it 100 per cent.

RUMDUM,

OUR PATAGONIAN GOVERNOR.

Gov. Baker is performing the silly stunt of hiding his head in the sand in the most spectacular manner. The report of Dr. Frederick G. Waite of Western Reserve University, embodying the results of a survey of medical conditions in Missouri, has been filed with the Governor. It specifically and drastically criticizes the work of Dr. Cortez F. Enloe, former secretary of the State Board of Health under Gov. Hyde, and a member of the board by appointment of Gov. Baker, and Director of Penal Institutions by appointment of Gov. Baker.

This report covers the irregularities which President North and Secretary Stewart of the board have been trying to correct and because of which they demanded the resignation of Dr. Enloe, without effect on Gov. Baker.

Asked by the correspondent what he had to say with regard to the report, the Globe-Democrat quotes the Governor as follows:

I have not read Dr. Waite's report, know nothing of its contents, and am not, therefore, in a position to comment. I don't care to say anything further in connection with it.

Having been State Superintendent of Schools, we assume that Gov. Baker can read. In view of his reply to the question concerning Dr. Waite's survey of medical conditions in Missouri and his blasting condemnation of the record of Dr. Enloe, we wonder what Gov. Baker does read. Evidence is accumulating either that he reads nothing touching irregularities and crookedness under his administration, or that he pays no attention to it.

In order that there may be no doubt of the Governor's knowledge of Dr. Enloe's character and fitness to be a member of the State Board of Health we will whisper in his ear, through the Post-Dispatch, the conclusions of Dr. Waite with regard to the conduct of Dr. Enloe while secretary of the Board of Health.

Dr. Waite found that applicants were admitted to examination who had not filed their applications 30 days in advance, as required by law, and that some were admitted who did not file their applications until after examination.

GOOD FOR OLD CALLAWAY.

Callaway County has rebuked the 20 farmers who secured an injunction last week which will prevent the completion of primary road No. 2 next year.

On Monday 1000 citizens in 200 automobiles paraded their protest through the streets of Fulton. On the same night a meeting at McCrabbie, which was largely attended, considered methods for persuading the obstructionists to withdraw their action. The good offices of other cities were solicited in the cause. Similar meetings are to be held in other towns of the county.

These citizens of Callaway County are making a fight for the State. This injunction is a State issue. Its consequences have been outlined by Engineer Piepmeyer of the Highway Commission. Even the temporary injunction will prevent the completion of No. 2 next year. If made permanent and the Highway Commission is compelled to abandon the route it has selected for the route demanded by the 20 farmers, an additional construction cost of $250,000 will be imposed on the State; the distance will be increased some four miles, which will levy a maintenance tax on the State for all time and will saddle an operating tax on the motorists of Missouri of $500,000 a year—a perpetual tax which necessarily will increase with the years.

Those figures are estimates, of course, but they are the calculations of an expert who is presumed to know his business. It was considerations such as these that influenced the Highway Commission's selection of the present route. There were other considerations, such as the convenience of the people of Callaway and adjoining counties and the very substantial economy that would accrue to them by this shorter, safer route.

The citizens of Callaway County have made it plain that they did not ask the Highway Commission to change the route from the political location fixed by the Legislature, for which the 20 farmers, with the backing of Fulton, are contending. It is not surprising, therefore, that the citizens of Callaway County resent the injustice of this injunction and that feeling against Fulton throughout the county is running high. That phase of it, to be sure, is a local issue, but it is something the business men of Fulton should think about. So far from serving its selfish interest by this injunction Fulton may do itself a serious disservice by antagonizing the county.

In order that there may be no doubt of the Governor's knowledge of Dr. Enloe's character and fitness to be a member of the State Board of Health we will whisper in his ear, through the Post-Dispatch, the conclusions of Dr. Waite with regard to the conduct of Dr. Enloe while secretary of the Board of Health.

ASSOCIATION PLANNING 12
WEEKS OF PERFORMANCES
FOR 1926; TICKET SALES FOR THESE EXCEED $80,000.

With the announcement of the Municipal Theater Association to the effect that checks in refund of the amounts paid into the association's treasury by subscribers to the summer fund of the 1925 municipal opera season, which closed yesterday night, Aug. 17, would be sent to guarantors some time next week, it became known that in the sixth consecutive year the officially directed opera enterprise had paid its own way and earned a surplus to be devoted to the next summer's season.

The amount of this year's profit cannot be determined until an audit of the association's books, now being made by public accountants, is completed. However, this audit has progressed to the point where it can be stated that the income from the 1925 operations will exceed the expenses incurred during the year and that it will not be necessary to make use of any part of the $46,400 guarantee fund pledged by St. Louis firms and individuals.

DEFICIT IN ONLY ONE YEAR.

The present summer was the seventh in which the Municipal Theater Association sponsored a series of al fresco opera productions in the Municipal Theater at Forest Park. Of these seven seasons, only one, that of 1919, the first year of Municipal Opera, ended in a deficit. The 1919 loss amounted to $16,617, and the deficits which were made good the losses reimbursed from the profits of the 1925 season. In 1920 the theater association's season earned a profit of $8519.35; in 1921, $21,226.87; in 1922, $41,774.40; in 1923, $25,292.12, and in 1924, $141.21.

Last summer's season and the cycle just concluded were marked by the most unfavorable weather conditions since the inception of municipal opera.

Profits from the various opera seasons have been used mainly in developing the Municipal Theater as the finest and best-equipped outdoor theater in the world. The association has borne the major cost of $500 permanent chairs, the awnings, which provide shelter in case of sudden rain, a $12,500 dual amplifier, electrical equipment costing $15,000, erection of dressing room and scenic studio buildings and all other improvements made at the theater since 1919. Last year $25,000 was dedicated to the construction of a new station in the theater grounds. Plans for 1926 Under Way.

The fact that the 1925 season would show a profit, regardless of the handicaps of bad weather, was particularly pleasing to members of the Executive Productions Committee of the theater association, which met today to consider preliminary plans for next summer's al fresco cycle. Following this meeting, Chairman Max Koenigsberg announced that it had been decided to recommend to the board of directors that the present advance prices, which provide revenue seats at 25 cents, 50 cents, $1.50 and $2.00, be maintained next summer. These prices were established in 1922, when the average cost of the opera production was $18,482. Since that time the cost of productions has increased 65 per cent, but a corresponding increase in attendance has enabled the association to continue the 1921 scale of prices.

The association's tentative plans for 1926 are for a season of 12 weeks, to begin the first week in June, Koenigsberg said. "Based on a season of that length and with the present scale of ticket prices in effect, we have received a season for next year exceeding $30,000." This display of approval of the association's policy on the part of the people, who, by their purchases of tickets, make the annual opera season possible, is highly encouraging. It may be noted that nothing will be left over to make the 1926 season deficit to the amount of $1,500,000, should the chapel building be completed and the amount of the contribution to the university specified that $1,500,000 should be held for the chapel building.

Double Projection in Two Houses in Casper, Wyo., Follows Dispute Over Lease.

By the Associated Press.

CASPER, Wyo., Aug. 26.—Motion picture patrons at two of Casper's largest movie houses yesterday were treated to the unusual spectacle of two pictures being projected on the same screen at the same time with rival ticket sellers taking cash at the doors as they entered.

Officers of the investment company that leased the theaters to a amateur concern appeared with the announced intention of taking them over because of failure of the lessees to pay rent in advance.

Managers of the houses protested, and double projection and double ticket selling ensued.

18-STORY CATHEDRAL TOWER.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—A cathedral structure with a tower as high as a skyscraper, a tower as high as an 18-story building, and with a nave wider between piers than any in the world, to cost $1,700,000, is provided in contracts signed for the University Chapel of the University of Chicago. The late President Burton planned much of the proposed structure and last year visited England to gain ideas. Construction of the chapel has been looked forward to since 1910, when John D. Rockefeller Sr. in making his final contribution to the university specified that $1,500,000 should be held for the chapel building.

ENGLISH EDITORIAL ON CHICAGO CRIME

Appreciation of Criminal Complex, More Effective Than Police Publicity Campaign.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News, Copyright 1925.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Manchester Guardian publishes the following editorial:

"Following the lead of New York, Chicago is about to warn would-be criminals against the folly of their ill-doing by displaying in tram cars and other public places posters showing condemned men being led to execution, ornamented with such texts as 'You can't win' and 'Seven thousand police have sworn to get you dead or alive.'

"Recent reports do certainly suggest that Chicago has a population to handle that is lawless far above the average. Last year there were 207 murders among 20,000 citizens against 71 among 40,000,000 people in England and Wales."

"Official accounts that gangs flourish in Chicago and such incidents as the extremely funeral of the King of Chicago's underlings, advertising is scarcely the best way to discredit it. Such crude suggestion is no more likely to prove effective than would placards in our tram cars reminding gamblers that 'You must love' and 'Several thousand bookmakers are sworn to get you, win or lose.' Hints of this kind are just as likely to arouse the combative instincts of murderers and gamblers as to convince them, in the one case, that the police will seize their person, and in the other, that the bookmakers will seize their pocketbooks.

Comment on Franks Case.

"Chicago will have to try means more true to human nature if it wants to appeal effectively to the better instincts of its criminals. In the recent Leopold-Loeb trial one of the most remarkable cases in the whole history of justice—Chicago did display appreciation of the complexity of character and motive in men who go glaringly wrong. If we assume—what is the fact—that every potential criminal there is a potential good citizen, much can be done toward destroying crime at its sources. But if we believe this, then we have to tackle the problem of the slums and treat those who break the law as sympathetically and intelligently as possible without doing anything for the final safeguard of force and foods.

"Along these lines real progress can be made while a publicity campaign to advertise the efficiency of the police will not, on fears, be worth the money spent on it."

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

Thousands Learn Model Kitchen Methods Via KSD

Tribute Is Paid to Home Service Programs by Miss Helen Wethrell in Hundreds of Letters.

How the "Home Service" hour for that lesson, cooks them and serves the finished product to those present, explaining each detail as she goes along and answering questions. The visitors enter the demonstration kitchen, receive mimeographed sheets outlining the lesson, take notes, write down what they desire, and at the close, draw or write to discuss their problems as they like. No questions are asked of the class, no names are taken, no advertising is distributed. It all is informal.

The Home Service programs are under the direction of the Home Service Department of the Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis, the broadcasting being done by Miss Helen Wethrell, director of that department. Miss Wethrell has four assistants, all trained domestic service experts. For their use the Laclede company has established a model kitchen in which household research is conducted as a basis for the radio programs. Therein, also, are held the daily free cooking classes of the Home Service department.

Nearly a year ago KSD began to broadcast home service talks, starting with two a week. Now they are given every day, from 10 to 10:30 a.m. Not dry cook book quotations are, however, given. Instead, the radio talkers call for research work in the kitchen to evolve new recipes. But it is done gladly.

A Shut-In's Gratitude.

In broadcasting on cooking Miss Wethrell dictates to her radio listeners an outline of the recipes, giving the ingredients and the quantities of each to be used, then explains how they should be mixed and all of the various steps to be taken in preparing, cooking, and serving the food under discussion.

It may be a bread, a soup, a meat, a vegetable, a salad or a dessert.

It isn't theoretical cooking which is taught in this course, for every recipe given over the radio has been tried and found successful.

Another, from a Chicago woman, conveys a hint of humor. She wrote: "Each morning when I am home I tune in to hear your recipes and enjoy hearing you so much. You know that Chicago gives many such talks, but none are as good nor are any of the other voices as pleasing as yours."

"My cook even steals in to hear you and it gives her much joy as she is an old colored woman who came from St. Louis. She has been with us for many years and yours are the only recipes she accepts gracefully."

The kitchen was established last September by the Laclede company to enable the women of St. Louis to keep abreast of the food styles, to give good cooks a chance to learn the latest wrinkles in oven heat control and the like and to teach the rudiments of kitchen art to the beginners. The classes are free and are held at 2 p.m. every weekday but Saturday. More than 15,000 women had attended them up to Aug. 19.

Even Men Attend Classes.

Young women struggling with the intricacies of homemaking after their return to offices, matrons, elderly women, even men, attend the classes. Each day a demonstrator prepares the foods chosen.

DOWNTOWN BAN ON PARKING DRAWS MERCHANTS' FIRE

Head of Business Men's Association Says Attempt Will Be Made to Obtain Modification.

"MAY CAUSE SHIFTING OF SHOPPING CENTER"

Street Director Brooks, However, Calls Restrictions a Success and Outlines Plans for Extension.

The Downtown Business Men's Association, together with other organizations of business men in the restricted parking zone, will ask that a traffic council rule, prohibiting parking of automobiles in the congested zone during the morning and afternoon rush hours, be modified, at least, when it comes before the Board of Aldermen for passage next month.

This statement was made by Charles Williams, president of the association, in a short address at a joint meeting last night at the Riverview Club of the Safety Council and the North St. Louis Business Men's Association. About 150 persons attended.

Williams' remarks were made after Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, a member of the Traffic Council, had declared that "the present no-parking rules in the congested districts are a success," and had outlined plans of the council for an extension of the restricted zone during rush hours.

"Working a Hardship."

"The new no-parking rule is working a hardship on business men in the affected zone, particularly those selling the daily necessities of life," Williams asserted.

He declared the measure, if continued in effect, might even cause the business district of the city to be shifted to the district around Grand boulevard and Olive street, because of its central location. "A financial catastrophe in St. Louis would follow such a move," he asserted.

Williams predicted the new city market would not be a financial success under the present parking rules, because prospective customers will not have a place to park their cars near the market during the hours in which a large portion of such shopping is done.

The market, located in the block of Broadway and Sixth street and Morgan street and Lucas avenue, is in the restricted zone. On the upper floors of a building is a public garage for 700 cars, operated by the city, for which a nominal charge is made for automobile storage. Williams made no mention of the garage in his address.

Provisions of Rule.

The Traffic Council rule to which Williams objected prohibits parking between 7 and 10 a.m. and between 4 and 6 p.m. in the district bounded by the north line of Franklin avenue, the west line of Third street, the south line of Market street and the east line of Twelfth boulevard. Exception is made for commercial vehicles, which may park in this area for not more than 15 minutes at a time. Between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. the one-hour parking ordinance governs in this district. This measure went into effect June 23, and will remain in force for 90 days, after which it will either be rejected or become a city ordinance by vote of the Board of Aldermen.

Several measures for the control of traffic were discussed by Director Brooks. They will most likely be taken up by the Traffic Council within the next few months.

One of the most important measures which Director Brooks said "we expect to recommend" is the elimination of parking on the south sides of Locust street from Grand boulevard to the congested district, and Lawton boulevard and Chestnut street to the congested district between 7 and 10 a.m., and on the north side of those streets from 4 to 6 p.m. "This measure would provide an additional lane of traffic for motor cars which would be equivalent to widening the streets without expending a single dollar," Brooks stated.

"Should Apply to Pedestrians."

Traffic rules, Director Brooks asserted, should apply to pedestrians as well as to vehicles and should be enforced in the same manner. "It should be unlawful for a pedestrian to cross a roadway other than with released traffic at intersections where traffic is directed by police officers by automatic traffic signal," he said.

The Traffic Council should designate by markings upon surface of the roadway crossings approximately equal in width to adjacent sidewalks at all intersections in the congested district and on boulevards, and in addition should des-

MEN STUPID ANIMALS ABOUT CLOTHES, PROFESSOR SAYS

By Eddie in the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1925.

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Men should take a leaf from women's book, or perhaps they had better dress from women's wardrobes, and learn how to clothe themselves sensibly, according to Ernst Friedberger, professor of hygiene at the University of Griesheim, Berlin.

Men are stupid animals, he says. During the last century their clothing has grown steadily worse, not only for beauty, but for health. On the other hand, women now have found, with knee-length skirts, light underclothes and bare arms and shoulders, a sane and beautiful clothing which is ideal for health.

Entire groups of illnesses formerly particular to women, resulting from compressing or heavy clothing, have disappeared. Man, however, is a grossly overclothed animal. Dr. Friedberger suggests that differentiation in weight of the cloth worn in summer and winter should be made. Long trousers—"that barbarous garment" should be handled with an ax and reduced to knickers or tyrolean breeches. The arms should be naked. The neck also should be naked like that of a sailor, collars being superfluous and unhealthy.

Combination underwear is the most sensible, since it prevents double clothing of the abdomen. Such clothes should be worn by both sexes, not only in warm weather, but in anything but the most rigorous winters.

NAVAL ESTIMATES CUT $43,000,000 IN ECONOMY DRIVE

Activities in All Departments to Be Curtailed, and Some Shore Stations May Be Abandoned.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Budget paring and its possible requirements as to a curtailed program are engaging the study of naval heads as well as the War Department.

Acting at the request of the Budget Bureau to reduce its program for the fiscal year 1927, the Navy Department has slashed its original estimates by more than $40,000,000 by arranging to curtail activities all along the line and perhaps abandon a number of Eastern shore stations.

War Department officials fear that the army's budget, although there has been no authoritative indication of what the bureau's recommendations may be, will be limited to a figure that will necessitate dropping from 7000 to 10,000 enlisted men and possibly one or two thousand officers.

Budget of $310,000,000.

Where $353,000,000 was originally asked, the navy program is now understood to represent an outlay for the next fiscal year of approximately $310,000,000. This compares with an appropriation of $363,000,000 for the present fiscal year.

Inasmuch as officers regard $300,000,000 as about the minimum necessary for maintenance and operation purposes, it has been necessary in meeting budget requirements to cut into plans for new construction as well as aviation development.

While conferences have not been concluded on the situation, it is understood, the revised estimates provide for the closing Boston navy yard, the Charleston (S. C.) navy yard, the Supply Base at Brooklyn, and either the Great Lakes or the Hampton Roads naval training station. In taking this stand, it is pointed out that recommendations of the board headed by Rear Admiral Rodman three years ago on the shore establishment situation are being followed.

Curtailment of Construction.

The move also would be in line with the trend of recent years in basing naval activities in the Pacific, thereby eliminating the necessity of so many stations on the eastern coast.

The present strength of 80,000 enlisted men is expected to be maintained, but the original plan to utilize $47,000,000 toward construction of new cruisers and other craft faces the prospect of sharp revision.

While $14,000,000 is regarded as the minimum requirement for the Bureau of Aviation, $32,000,000 had been requested to expand the activities of this branch. This figure, too, is now faced with the probability of a considerable reduction.

Although some consideration is said to have been given to closing the air station at Lakehurst, N. J., and placing the dirigibles Los Angeles and Shenandoah out of commission unless the former is leased to a private company for commercial operations, indications are that this step will not be taken.

LAWRENCE GRUNER HEARING IN CHICAGO COURT DELAYED

Continuance Granted at Request of Mrs. Thomas F. Lawrence, III in St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Hearing of charges against Thomas Fisher Lawrence, vice president of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, and Mrs. Julia D. Gruner of St. Louis, in Municipal Court, was continued today till Sept. 15. The continuance was requested by Harry Newby, an attorney representing Lawrence's wife, who caused the arrest of her husband and Mrs. Gruner at a North Shore hotel Aug. 13.

The lawyer said Mrs. Lawrence was ill at her home, 5337 Pershing avenue, St. Louis. Neither Lawrence nor Mrs. Gruner was present. It had been stated in St. Louis yesterday that Mrs. Lawrence would not be in court today.

BREAKS 300-YEAR-OLD RULE

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—When Sir Harry Hope rose in the House of Commons to speak from one of the front benches he was greeted with loud cries of "Order." He sat down, puzzled, but rose again only to be greeted with more shouts of "Order."

A member pointed out that he had violated a 300-year-old rule by putting his foot beyond a red line at the edge of the carpet in front of him. These lines, on either side of the chamber, were placed there in Stuart days, when the Roundheads in Parliament were bitterly attacking the Cavalier supporters of Charles I. Members in those days were armed and it was feared that debates might end in violence, so the red line was placed beyond which they were not supposed to pass during debate.

DOG BURIED IN FAMILY VAULT

Objection Voiced to Unusual Procedure in Irish District.

Correspondence of Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

BELFAST, Aug. 10.—Objection has been made to the Derry rural district council that a dead dog has been placed in a vault in Cumber graveyard. The complaint was accurate but the circumstances revealed a pathetic affection for a favored animal friend. The dog was a water spaniel and belonged to Col. Browne Lecky, one of the best-known residents of the gentry. The remains are placed in his family vault in such a manner that when the Colonel himself is buried there the dog will be at his feet. The dog lies in a coffin having a brass plate on which is engraved this verse:

Such was my dog, who now without my aid,

Hunts through the shadowland,

himself a shade;

Or crouched, perchance, before some ghostly gate,

Awaits my step as here he used to wait.

ST. LOUIS BOYS' WORLD TOUR
ENDS WHEN THEY ARE 'BROKE'

Pair Arrive at Farm Near Jefferson
City—Not Averse to Returning Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 26.—A tour of the world, started by Charley Foster, 11, and Lee Green, 13, of St. Louis, ended near Jefferson City yesterday when the boys arrived at the farm of Lou Duncan, a road overseer, residing four miles south of Jefferson City. The boys said they were "broke" and not averse to returning to their homes.

Jefferson City police telephoned to St. Louis addresses given by the boys for funds to pay their rail-road fare home.

Foster gave his address as 1206 Chouteau avenue and Green 2130 South Fourth street. Duncan is caring for them.

The boys asserted they started their trip involuntarily, when they went to sleep in a truck and were carried out of the city, then decided to keep going.

IMITATES HYPNOTIST
AS HUMAN PINCUSHION

Cabinetmaker, With Seven Needles in Body, Seeks Relief at Hospital.

An effort to emulate the performance of a hypnotist, who punctured needles through his flesh "without pain or bloodshed," resulted in Alpha McKelvey, 29, a cabinetmaker, of 1117 Dolman street, being taken to city hospital yesterday to have seven sewing needles removed from his abdomen and groin.

McKelvey appeared at the hospital at noon, accompanied by his wife and a physician, the receiving physician to complete an operation, which McKelvey had started with an old safety razor blade, for the removal of a needle from the right side of his abdomen. The physician was unable to locate the needle, and sent McKelvey to the X-ray department, where an examination disclosed seven needles lodged in his abdomen.

At the hospital today McKelvey was unable to throw much light on his unique performance. "I had been drinking a lot of stuff since last Saturday, and guess I was thinking about that fellow I saw on the stage several years ago," he said. "He punched needles into his arms and legs without hurting himself, so I must have thought I could do the same thing. At that, the only one that hurts is the one I tried to dig out with the safety razor blade."

Mrs. McKelvey told physicians her husband stuck 13 needles into his body, but that she assisted him with her assistance before going to the hospital. Physicians plan to operate today, in an effort to remove the other seven.

Doctors Asked to Remove Half-Dozen Pins From Boy's Stomach.

Oliver Bierman, 11 years old, appeared at City Hospital last night, accompanied by his father, Harry, 1222 Wright street, and requested that physicians remove a half-dozen pins from his stomach.

Oliver said he accidentally swallowed the coin a short time before appearing at the hospital. The presence of the 60-cent piece in his stomach caused him to discomfort, he said. An X-ray examination will be made today to determine whether an operation is necessary to remove the coin.

LINER AROUND NEAR END OF AROUND-WORLD CRUISE

Seventy Passengers Are Aboard Stranded Vessel Which Is Not in Immediate Danger.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The Dollar Line steamship President Garfield is aground on Half Moon Shoal off the Island of Nantucket today, radio dispatches to coast guard headquarters here said. The coast guard cutter Auschneet and a light house tender were alongside this afternoon.

The steamer, which was being navigated by a coastwise pilot, ran aground in the fog at daybreak, officials in the line's Boston office said. She sailed from Boston for New York last night with 70 passengers. The liner, officials said, is in no immediate danger and it is expected she will get off the shoal this afternoon. Half Moon Shoal is a nine-hour run out of Boston.

Among those on board the grounded vessel is Capt. Robert Deller, the president of the Dollar Line Steamship Co. The other passengers are all New Yorkers, most of whom will end a three months' world cruise when the liner docks in New York. Eighteen New York newspapermen, guests of the line on the run from New York to Boston, where the New England world cruisers ended their trip, are on board.

The President Garfield, a 21,000-ton vessel, was built in 1920 in Philadelphia. She carries a crew of 95 officers and men. The vessel is scheduled to start on another three months round-the-world trip out of New York on Sept. 2.

TWO TRAPPERS' BODIES FOUND

Men Overcome by Sickness in Northern Wilds.

By the Associated Press.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 26.—"The roof leaks—good-by." Thus ended a note found yesterday beside the bodies of Peter Ackerman and George Williams, trappers, who went more than a year ago into the wilds of northern British Columbia in quest of fur-bearing animals.

They found them and obtained the furs and cached them. Then in a hut they were overcome by sickness and the farewell note was written to tell an only son of Williams, residing in Edmonton, where the furs, valued at $2000, might be found.

The cabin in which the bodies were discovered was littered with furs which the trappers had failed to hide. They had been scattered all about the room by wild animals which had entered the hut through the open doorway.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN AMAZED AT WONDERFUL RESULTS

Says Herb Juice Relieved Her of a Chronic Case of Constipation, Kidney Trouble and a Very Nervous, Rundown Condition Generally.

MRS. W. S. BROWNING

"I wouldn't take anything I could think of for the wonderful relief which I have obtained through the use of your remarkable remedy, Herb Juice," said Mrs. W. S. Browning, who is known and appreciated throughout St. Louis people, and who resides at 750 Westgate Ave., St. Louis, Mo. in a recent conversation with the Herb Juice man.

"I certainly was very constipated," Mrs. Browning, "how quickly my Herb Juice relieved me of my ailments. I have suffered a great many years from constipation, indigestion and gastritis, to my nothing but the extremely nervous condition of my entire system. My kidneys also gave me considerable trouble. I have tried most everything everybody recommends for me, but I failed to get results, but with absolutely no results. I noticed so many of your

'YOU MUST BE A DUB TO SUCCEED IN LIFE'

French Specialist Finds That Quality Necessary to Get Ahead of Others.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. PARIS, Aug. 15.—Are you successful?

Don't answer this question hastily. Anything you say may be used against you.

You might be tempted to answer, "Successful?" Why, business has never been better! Sales volume last month beat all records!" Or, taking another view of the question, you might reply: "Well, I should say I am! Only six years out of college and I own my own business, a house, two motor cars, a bank account—to say nothing of a wife and three children!"

Such answers as those would condemn you utterly. A French specialist, Dr. Toulouse, has just discovered that to be a success is naivete. That means you must be something of a dub, with a child-like mind, easily pleased with baubles.

Take any successful man you know; say the good doctor, and trace his history back: you're very apt to find that during his youth he was awkward, clumsy, shy, never had many friends in school, and was inclined to be backward in his studies. People had little hope of his ever amounting to anything. "Ed Had Plenty of Naivete."

Of course, we are all familiar with cases of this kind. Every now and then we are surprised to hear that old Joe Meyer or old Hank Ferris has got on in life to an amazing extent.

"You'd never guess who came to see me today," says one of our cronies at the Commercial Club.

"Who?" "Well, we inquire with feigned interest.

"Old Ed Mangan!"

"Who the deuce is he?"

"Don't you remember that little tow-headed, freckle-faced kid in the geometry class? Always tag-zing around, but nobody liked him." Got flunked out of school, and worked in Simpson's garage until his family moved East."

"Oh, yes. What'd he want—a job?"

"Job! He could buy both of us without missing the money! He's distributing agent for the Dash car, and owns a big block of stock in the factory to boot."

"The deuce you say! Well, well!"

Yes, we all have participated in very similar conversations. But Dr. Toulouse would explain it very easily. Young Ed Mangan had plenty of naivete. That's why he got ahead.

"You Can't Let Frances Stay."

If he had had too much intelligence and too much curiosity, he would still be a garage helper. Instead of plugging steadily along, eyes front, like a horse wearing blinders, he would have got interested in a lot of irrelevant things. He might have become an inventor, or a philosopher, or a chemist—but he never would have been a success.

In other words, singleness of purpose is not compatible with a free, open, speculative mind. You can't let your fancies stray if you want to get ahead.

Furthermore, says the doctor, you've got to have faith in what you are doing. This amounts, we take it, to saying that you must enjoy doing it.

But, the argument runs, you can't enjoy the kind of work that makes for success unless you have a narrow-restricted mind. Doctor Toulouse finds that this quality exists more commonly in America, England and Germany than it does in France. And he deplores it. He thinks more Frenchmen ought to cultivate it. Otherwise, foreign countries will have a monopoly of success.

"Give Us Failure."

Of course, some Frenchmen might disagree with him. If success means going through life with blinders on, they would say, so much the worse for success! Give us failure, and be quick about it!

But Doctor Toulouse has an answer to that. This present situation is passing. Man will rise to a higher civilization, where success will require taking the blinders off. Then France will have her turn. But for the moment she must try to rival the world's leading industrial nations on their own grounds.

There is some consolation, however, for those of us who are not successful. In thinking that we have the compensating virtues of broadmindedness, culture and philosophy. And when anybody puts that terrible question, "Are you successful?" we can answer: "Or, dear, no. I'm not so naif as all that."

BODY PETRIFIED IN FEW YEARS

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

NAPLES, Aug. 4.—A striking example of the mummification of a human body by natural processes has been discovered at Vatolla, in the Province of Salerno, with the exhumation of the body of a local resident, Rosa Scarpa, who died in 1912. The body was found to be in a perfect state of preservation; even her clothes were in a sort of petrified condition, but retained their original colors.

Thinking the mummification process might have been due to peculiar chemical qualities of the soil, the authorities ordered the opening of an adjacent grave, but the corpse in the latter grave had completely decomposed. This, therefore, led to the belief among devout natives that a miracle had been wrought.

Hundreds are now calling daily at the headquarters at Judge & Dolph Drug Co., 514 Washington Ave., giving statements for publication and praising Herb Juice that their friends may be induced to try the great remedy which is relieving so many sufferers in Saint Louis. CLUBROOMS FOR BANK PATRONS

American Depository in Palestine Makes a Building Record. JERUSALEM, July 29.—A bank organized by American residents at Tel Aviv has created a new record for speed construction in Palestine. Faced by the necessity of an expiring lease to obtain new quarters, the bank immediately began erection of a building of its own. Large electric arc lights were installed and three shifts of workmen were kept employed. The new building of three stories is the tallest in Tel Aviv. In addition to the banking quarters it will contain commodious club-rooms for the entertainment of customers and tourists. It also will have a roof garden, from which a fine view of the Mediterranean sea and the hills of Judea may be had.

HAS FINGER CUT OFF SO
HE CAN JOIN ARMYBaltimore Young Man Wins Commendation of Recruiting Officer —Hopes to Be Aviator.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25.—William Henry Dorsey, 22 years old, of Baltimore, had a crippled finger and a desire to join the army. He wanted to be an aviator. But there was the finger, hurt in an accident years ago and grown bent and stiff so that his left hand was almost useless. William told his troubles to Corporal C. F. Kiernan a neighbor.

Yesterday Kiernan took him to Capt. Charles J. Mabbot, head of the army recruiting station. The captain was sympathetic.

"I'd like to take you," he told Dorsey, "and I would if that finger were off. I'm sorry."

"All right," Dorsey answered. "I shall come off. Get your hat, Corporal."

"Hey, where you going?" the Captain asked.

"To Mercy Hospital."

Thirty minutes later a soldier and a man with his left hand tied up in white gauze strolled into the Captain's office. It was Dorsey and Kiernan.

"Well, it's off, Captain. Here I am."

"Just like that," was the Captain's admiring comment. "You'll make a good soldier, Dorsey." He wanted to be an aviator, and he gave a finger to attain his end. The recruiting officer commented, "I think he'll make the grade all right. At any rate, he is on his way to Langley field."

FRAUD CHARGE AGAINST

FORMER ST. LOUIS DEALER

B. F. Nofree Is Arrested in Indianapolis on Complaint of Furniture Dealers.

B. F. Nofree, who formerly conducted the Hanella Furniture Co., Washington boulevard and Taylor avenue, was arrested in Indianapolis yesterday by Postoffice Inspector Noah on a Federal warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud by mailing false financial statements.

It is charged that Nofree obtained $18,000 in furniture on the strength of credit established by false statements of his company's financial condition. Among the firms defrauded were Kennard's and Trorlicht-Duncker, according to Postoffice Inspector Utley, who assisted Noah in the investigation.

Nofree's company went into bankruptcy after obtaining the furniture, and its stock was depleted. Since then $5000 of the furniture alleged to have been obtained by fraud has been recovered from a storage company on Olive street, where Nofree left it.

Nofree was known in Indianapolis as "E. D. Taylor," the name under which he stored the furniture here. He waived extradition and will be returned here at once.

The champion himself had nothing to say. George E. Durso, manager of the New York City and Saturday evenings Harry H. Smith, Dempsey's representative, referred that he was not more than Frankie Lemire, champion to the fly-weight crown, made but one statement before departing on a vacation trip.

He said he thought the New York commission's attitude was sound.

Sparring writers on the various papers have referred to it as the "New York Boxing Commission's weekly joke."

From the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Fidel
La Barba, conqueror of Frankie Gennaio, cannot box in this State as a champion, even though he may be generally recognized as the successor to the crown of the late Pascual Villa.

This is the opinion of William Muldoon of the New York Boxing Commission, and in event of an official ruling being made imperative on this point it is certain Muldoon will not only stand by his opinion in the matter but also will influence the other members of the commission to his way of thinking.

At yesterday's meeting of the State Athletic Commission, Chairman Farley was quizzed as to whether an exception to the rule which prevents boxers under 21 from engaging in contests of over six rounds would be made in the case of La Barba. It was pointed out that the coast boy, having developed outside the boxer, has had three victories to his credit in the decisive flyweight championship of the world. Villa, La Barba must be generally recognized as the new champion of the class.

Farley referred the question to Muldoon.

Rules Bar La Barba.
It would be impossible for La
Barba to box as a champion in this State, according to our rules," declared Muldoon. "La Barba is only 19 years old and will not be eligible to box 15 rounds for two years.
A championship contest in this State calls for 15 rounds to decision. No doubt a strange precedence is being established, in this instance, but the 21-year-old rule was adopted for the welfare of the young boxer and I am strongly of the opinion that it is detrimental to the interests of the game to have undeveloped boys engage in long contests."

Chairman Farley seemed inclined to believe that some special ruling in favor of La Barba should be adopted but he doubted whether it would be influenced by Muldoon's vigorous stand, should the question ever come to a showdown.

Mullins Awaits Wills' Arrival.
Fatty Mullins visited the commission yesterday and advised Muldoon and Farley that the business of putting up a $25,000 check along with the ones of the same amount already placed in the hands of the commission by Rickard and Kearns would be held in abeyance until the return from abroad of Harry Wills. The game, however, will be played on Sept. 12.

Although an exception may be made in La Barba's favor, it was pointed out at the commission's meeting today that the Coast boy is not eligible to be champion under the New York boxing rules, which provide a title must change hands in a 15-round bout, but also that a fighter under 21 cannot go more than six rounds. La Barba won the title in a 10-round go.

The commission made no further progress in its efforts to arrange the Wills-Dempsey heavyweight ut-til match next year.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, informed the sevens he was not prepared to post a $25,000 forfeit until his fighter returns from Europe to discuss the situation. Promoter Tex Rickard and Jack Kearns, still insisting upon enacting role as manager of Dempsey, despite the champion-ship's reputation, already have posted $25,000 forfeits each as guarantees of their good faith in seeking the big match.

WHITE ROSE GASOLINE Sells for 3c More a Gallon —and is worth it

1 The National Refining Company has never made, or sold, but one grade of gasoline—White Rose, the best.

2 It is as pure as gasoline can be made.

3 For nearly a half-century White Rose Gasoline has been sold for 3c more a gallon than the market price of ordinary gasoline.

4 White Rose is the only gasoline for which those who know its merits have willingly paid a higher price for nearly fifty years.

5 White Rose Gasoline is made by a Company that drills its own wells, owns its own pipe lines, tank cars, refineries and service stations.

6 The sale of White Rose Gasoline has increased from a few hundred gallons to many millions of gallons a year.

7 White Rose Gasoline contains no injurious chemicals or "dopes".

8 The results claimed for White Rose Gasoline are based on facts gained from actual usage and not on theory or experiment.

9 Recently, there have been many "price" imitators of White Rose Gasoline. But never has White Rose had a "quality" imitator.

10 No artisan in any line takes greater pride in his product than do the men who make White Rose Gasoline.

JUNIOR C. OF C. DANCE FOR ICE FUND TONIGHT

Advance Sales Indicate Event on Francis Lawn Will Materially Aid Drive.

The advance ticket sale for tonight's al fresco dance on Francis Lawn, Newstead and Maryland avenues, under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, indicates that the affair will add materially to the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund.

Harry J. Krusk, chairman, and Glenn R. Turner, vice chairman, of the entertainment committee, are making final preparations today for a number of attractions to be given in connection with the dance. Music will be furnished through the courtesy of Chaff's Teletone's Missouri Melody Makers and the Baldwin Piano Co. has given the use of a piano without charge. Refreshments have been donated by Carpenter's Ice Cream Co., through Pennington's Candy Co. and Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and Independent Brewers are supplying soda and other soft drinks. Mullany Florists and the Polar Wave Ice Co. are also making donations.

Tickets priced at 50 cents may be purchased at Junior Chamber of Commerce headquarters or at Francis Lawn gate this evening. Attendance will not be limited to association members, and an invitation to attend is extended to any person wishing to help the Ice Fund. The entire proceeds of the affair will go to the babies' fund. This is the second time the Junior Chamber of Commerce has sponsored a benefit dance for tene-ment children, their first being given in 1919, when they added $100 to the fund.

ST. LOUIS CIRCUS TRAIN HAND NEAR DEATH AFTER ACCIDENT

Joe Burns, 17, overcome by fumes in Tunnel in Montana, to Lose Both Legs.

By the Associated Press.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 26.—Joe Burns, 17 years old, of St. Louis, will lose both legs and, possibly, his life, as the result of a fall from a freight train in a railroad tunnel on the Great Northern System, near Boulder, Mont., Monday night.

Both legs were so badly crushed below the knee, by the train's wheels that amputation will be necessary, and physicians say he has but a slender chance for recovery.

The youth tumbled off a freight car—a part of the circus train to which he attached himself last spring—when overcome by fumes as the train passed through the tunnel.

Alone and helpless, he lay from midnight Monday until 9 a.m. yesterday, when he was discovered by section hands.

NEW WELLSTON-ST. CHARLES EXPRESS BUSSINES IN OPERATION

Missouri Electric Railway Co. Begins 30-Minute Service On Hourly Schedule.

The Missouri Electric Railway Company, a subsidiary of the United Railways, has started operating two buses between Wellston and St. Charles to compete with a bus line which has been in operation between these two cities for several months.

The new buses do not make any stops between the two cities, making the trip each way in 30 minutes. They operate on an hourly schedule. A fare of 30 cents is charged. The single street car fare is 31 cents but by the purchase of $5 worth of tickets the street car fare may be reduced to 20 cents.

RATES CUT MAIL ORDERS

E. T. Hall Tells Congressional Body Increase Has Hurt Advertising.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The new rates stifle mail order advertising," Edward T. Hall of St. Louis, vice president of theRalston Purina Co., testified before the joint congressional subcommittee on postal rates today. "We furnish prepared mail order advertising to retail feed merchants. A large number of them have canceled or curtailed their orders this year."

"Have the cancellations been stimulated by a fund raised for purposes of propaganda by large business interests?" asked Senator George H. Moss of New Hampshire, chairman. "Not to my knowledge," said Hall.

Hall said that comparison of his company's postal business this year with that of last year would be misleading because his company was habitually expanding its business aggressively and because it had contracted with the Government for postage before the new rates went into effect.

Egyptian Postpones Channel Swim.

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 26.—A rough sea made necessary another postponement of the attempt of Ishak Helmy, the Egyptian, to swim the English Channel, which had been set for last night. Helmy did not set a new date for his attempt. The several channel swimmers here continue their training despite the rough water. Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American, who intends to wait for favorable tide conditions at the end of the month, is gradually increasing her work-outs both in the water and on land, swimming two hours each morning and walking in the afternoon.

MEDITATIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

FLAPPERS—TODAY, YESTERDAY AND FOREVER!

IRLS will be girls—and nature will be nature.

G Nothing can stop them.

Grandmother flirted; Mother spooned; Daughter pets—but they all got kissed, sooner or later.

Grandmother rubbed red calico on her cheeks; Mother "tinted" hers with red-tissue paper dipped in cologne; Daughter colors hers with scented rouge—but they all got painted, if with a different brush.

Grandmother laced; Mother padded; Daughter bants—but they all did it in order to charm the masculine eye.

Grandmother wore a hoop skirt; Mother wore a bustle; Daughter carries a lipstick—but they were all equally deceitful.

Grandmother cajoled her husband; Mother endured hers; Daughter divorced hers—but they all got tired, now and then.

Grandmother used a broom; Mother used a carpet sweeper; Daughter uses a vacuum cleaner—but cleaning days is the same old joy and the same old horror today, yesterday and forever.

Grandmother drove the gray Mare; Mother drove the dogcart; Daughter drives the flivver—but they are all "going somewhere" and nobody can STOP them.

Grandmother was proposed to on a moonlight buggy ride; Mother was courted on "a bicycle built for two;" Daughter in a taxicab—but they all got the same old thrill and had the same old beautiful dreams.

Grandmother loved only one man; Mother, one at a time; Daughter, one after another—but they all got the same old applesauce, the same old surprises and the same disappointments and heart-pangs.

Grandmother blushed; Mother flushed; Daughter "laughs it off"—but they all LISTEN when a man starts talking sentimental nonsense.

Grandmother knew how to make a pie; Mother knew how to make a dollar go a long way; Daughter knows how to make a living—but it all amounts to the same thing when it comes to making a good helpmate.

Grandmother dropped her eyes and clung to his coat-lapels; Mother hung on to his arm and trembled; Daughter grapples him around the neck—but they all did their best to keep him from getting away.

Grandmother cuddled him; Mother bossed him; Daughter joshes and jolies him—but they all knew that a man HAS to be managed, babied and mothered.

Grandmother called him "my suitor;" Mother called him "my fiance;" Daughter calls him "my boy friend"—but they all managed to lead him to the altar in the end.

Other times, other manners—but all roads lead to Matrimony when a woman drives!

How a Little Sick Girl Spreads Joy

By WINIFRED BLACK

DEAR me, how delighted she and pictures on the walls and I was—the little sick girl. Some one had brought her some garden roses, all fresh with the dew on them and there she lay in her narrow bed with a bed-table across her lap, and on that table she had three vases—no, it was two vases and a bowl—a tall, slender vase of glass, a gray-green vase of pottery and a nice clear glass bowl.

She took the glass bowl first and in it she put one of those little "frogs" that the Japanese use when they want to make flowers look as if they were growing. She arranged the pink roses with their green shiny leaves in the glass bowl, and how she did love the work. She put her little flower head on one side and smiled at the roses as if she were looking into the eyes of some dear friend.

Then she took the gray-green vase and in it she put the crimson roses. What a time she had making them look "just so!" And in the tall glass vase she arranged some white roses with little sprays of delicate buds. She hummed to herself as she worked and when she looked up she was so radiant with happiness that her face fairly shone.

"How lovely summer is," she said, "and the roses, how happy they make me."

Now let me tell you about that little girl. She has never had a dress on her life, nor a pair of regular shoes. She has never been out of the hospital grounds since she was eight years old and she is nearly 20 now.

She has not a relative in the world. The lodger to whom her father belonged, when he was living, used to pay all her expenses at the hospital grounds and take care of the windows and a few small counterpanes with roses on it.

Lemon Marmalade.

Wash two dozen large fresh lemons and place them in the preserving kettle, covering them with cold water. Boil gently for two hours and change the water three times while boiling. Let the lemons cool slightly, then slice them with a sharp knife, removing all pips. To each pound, add two pounds of sugar and a pint of the water they boiled in last. Boil the sugar and the water to a syrup, then add the lemons and cook until a little jelley.

BANANA SALAD.

Cut off a section of skin from a ripe banana and take out the fruit. Dice the fruit, add it to two pears, quartered, cored and dried apples, a heaping tablespoonful of very finely chopped walnut meats, the juice of half a lemon, and mayonnaise enough to bind. Add a tablespoonful of minced celery leaves and a strip of minced red pepper. Fill the skins with the salad and serve them on green lettuce leaves. Serve crackers with grated cheese toasted in the oven and dusted with paprika, with the salad.

LOVE

CHAPTER 54.

FTER all, all she had done was for love of him; for a greedy, clutching love, it was, us, made up chiefly of vanity and possessiveness and fear, but still love. Why not form the whole thing and let him think she had grown old in a week from grief?

Crude and touching explanation. And so nearly true, too; for if passion had begun the ruin, grief had completed it, and the night and day of that birth and death, of the agony of Stephen and her own long-drawn-out torment, had put the finishing touches of age beyond her age on a face and hair left defenseless to illness and grayness without Maria Rome's massage and careful dyes and any-how twice as worn and gray as they had been before she began the exhausting processes of Dr. Sanguine.

But she put this aside. She had had enough of nearly truth and the wretched business of taking him in. How could she go on doing him such wrongs? She had done him the greatest of wrongs marrying him, of that she was certain, but at least she would leave off making fools of them both. Rotten, rotten way of living. Let him see her as she was; and if his love—how natural that would be at his age, how inevitable—came to an end, she would set him free.

So she said, intent on simple truth. "I did deeply love Virginia, and I have suffered, but I looked very nearly like this before."

And Christopher, who hadn't lived these days close up to death, and hadn't seen and recognized what she so clearly did, and wasn't feeling any of this, was shocked out of his bewilderment by such blasphemy, and took a quick, almost menacing step forward, as if to silence the ghost daring to profane his lovely memory.

"You don't look like it—you didn't!" he cried. "You were my Catherine. You weren't this—"

He stopped, and stared close into her face. "What has become of you?" he asked, bewildered again, a dreadful sense of loss cold on his heart. "Oh, Catherine, what have you done to yourself?"

"Why, that's just it," she said, the faintest shadow of a smile trembling a moment in her eyes. "I haven't done anything to myself."

"But your hair—your lovely hair!"

He made a agonized motion with his hands. "Oh, all gone gray because of—of what you've been through, you poor, poor little thing—"

And again he knew he ought to take her in his arms and comfort her, and again he couldn't.

And she laid her hand on his arm, looking up at him with Catherine's eyes. Catherine's beautiful, fatigued eyes.

They were the same—beautiful as he had always known them, and fatigued as he had always known them; but how strange to see them in that little yellow face. Her eyes; all that was left of his Catherine. Yes, and the voice, the same gentle voice, except that it had a new note of something it sensed! Sensibility! Catherine's sensible! She had been—

"I don't see how I can get well if I'm not ill," she said gently.

"Why do you want to take hope from me?" he answered.

"Only don't want any more lies. I shant look different again from what I do now. I shant go back, I promise, to what I was. But perhaps I'll get over when you've had time to get over."

She hesitated, and then went on humbly—for she was vividly conscious of the wrong she had done him, vividly aware that she ought to have saved him from himself; whatever the pressure had been that was brought to bear on her, however great his misery was at the moment—"Presently I thought perhaps I might somehow make up for what I've done. I thought perhaps I might somehow comfort you—" She hesitated again. "I don't quite know how, though," she said, her voice more and more humble, "but I'd try." And then she said, almost in a whisper, "Is it, if you will let me."

"Let you!" he exclaimed, stubbed by her humbleness.

"Yes, let me," she said, moving away down the passage ahead of him; and more plainly than ever, when they got to the blue room on the stairs and she turned the bend of them before him, he could see how yellow she was, and what a quantity of gray, giving it that terrible grizzled look, there was in her hair.

Yellow; grizzled; what had she done, what had they done to her, to ruin her like this?

"I am, let me," she said, moving away down the passage ahead of him; and more plainly than ever, when they got to the blue room on the stairs and she turned the bend of them before him, he could see how yellow she was, and what a quantity of gray, giving it that terrible grizzled look, there was in her hair.
